- Requisitions are made in triplicate & authorized by the F&B Manager

CONTROL METHODS

- Kitchen transfers are made for fruits & vegetables
- Inter Bar Transfers are made out when transferring stock from one bar to another
- Items requisitioned are to be collected from stores at the appointed time and days

BAR STOCK & INVENTORY

- Bar Stocks and Inventory
- Bar Stocks
- Each bar should set a standard for an adequate supply, establish par stock - and par stock can be reckoned on how much should be in store room to back this up

BAR STOCK & INVENTORY

- This then becomes the par stock for storerooms
- Par stock can also be used to measure daily consumption
- Perishable items like draught beer and some beverages should never be overstocked

BAR STOCKS & INVENTORY

- There are 2 reasons for keeping a constant check on inventory
- One is to pinpoint losses quickly in order to stop them, the other reason has to do with purchasing (replacing) used stock
- The only way to know what is in stock is to take a physical inventory

BAR STOCKS & INVENTORY

- Closing Inventory for the accounting period will be the opening inventory for the next
- Perpetual Inventory:
- Based on the records by the accounting department and determines a paper record that tells you what you are supposed to have on hand in the storeroom
